

RETURN to
HAITI: CULTURAL RECOVERY PRESENTATIONS & COMMUNITY REFLECTIONS

Friday APRIL 8
2011

041 Haldeman

A little over a year after the earthquake of January 12, 2010, we return to ask hard questions about the situation in Haiti. In addition to loss of life and money, as well as the ongoing health crisis on the island, the disaster caused serious losses of artworks, historical archives, and information networks.

This international, interdisciplinary symposium focuses both on reports about the status of physical/economic relief efforts in Haiti and on the challenges of preserving cultural heritage in the aftermath of the earthquake. We encourage public reflection on these issues with an eye toward nurturing cultural and social linkages across the Americas.

Organizers:
Rebecca Biron
Keith Walker
Molly Bode

CO-SPONSORS:
THE NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER CENTER FOR PUBLIC
POLICY AND THE SOCIAL SCIENCES
DICKEY CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING
HOOD MUSEUM OF ART
BAKER/BERRY LIBRARY
LESLIE CENTER FOR THE HUMANITIES
DARTMOUTH-HITCHCOCK
CENTER FOR HEALTH CARE DELIVERY SCIENCE
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

2 pm - The Human Relief Effort

Members of the Dartmouth Haiti Response Team

2:30 - Architectural Preservation

Henry-Robert Jolibois

3 pm - Public Discussion

3:30-4 - Break

4 pm - Digital Library of the Caribbean

Brooke Wooldridge

4:30 - Art Preservation and Recovery: Blue Shield and The Smithsonian

Corine Wegener

5 pm - Public Discussion

5:30 - Cultural Dynamism

Gina Ulysse

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

LATIN AMERICAN, LATINO & CARIBBEAN STUDIES