

GEORGE LINK JR ENVIRONMENTAL AWARENESS LECTURE AND FOOD DAY KEYNOTE

Rowen White

Mohawk Seedkeeper, Farmer, Author

Monday, October 23, 2023

4:00 – 5:00 PM

Steele 006

“Seeds of Resilience: The Cultural Dimension of Plant Biodiversity”

Join Mohawk Seedkeeper Rowen White as she shares uplifting stories from the Indigenous Land and Seed Sovereignty movement, which embodies the vision of sustainable relational agriculture and shares the depth of the cultural dimension of plant biodiversity in North America. She will share the collective vision of intercultural healing that emerges when we center Indigenous leadership, ecological knowledge, cultural memory, and sovereignty of living in relationship with the cultural inheritance of land, seeds, and other non-human kin.

Sponsored by Dartmouth Dining Services, the Department of Environmental Studies, the Department of Native American and Indigenous Studies, the Office of Sustainability, and Dartmouth Dining Services.

Free and open to the public